Annual General Meeting, 1979

The Fredericton Folk Collective is pleased to extend a warm invitation to all members of the CFMS to attend the Annual General Meeting this fall at the campus of the University of New Brunswick on November 16-18. We anticipate a lively and interesting weekend, with plenty of folk music for all.

The proposed schedule for the meeting is as follows:

Friday, Nov. 16:

Afternoon and evening - Arrival in Fredericton and organization of accommodation, followed by reception and song circle.

[There will also be an Executive meeting that evening.]

Saturday, Nov. 17:

Morning and afternoon - Annual General Meeting in the Physics Conference Room, P204, UNB. Lunch and dinner will be catered at suitable locations.

Evening - Concert/coffeehouse in Memorial Hall, UNB, with CFMS and Folk Collective members performing.

Sunday, Nov. 18:

Morning - Conclusion of AGM, followed by general dispersal under private arrangements.

We hope that there will be ample opportunity for singing and song-swapping, so that the weekend will serve as a festive occasion in addition to the serious business of the AGM. Fredericton is not that far from the famous singing area of the Miramichi discovered by Louise Manny, while much more recently the Saint John Folk Club has been making some very interesting finds in their area, which we will no doubt be hearing about. The Folk Collective itself is a fairly eclectic musical group, with a strong component of traditional singing, which has reached quite a wide audience at UNB through its regular coffeehouses.

Arrangements for accommodation will depend to some extent on the number of people attending, so we urge you to let us know as soon as possible. The Folk Collective members can put up a number of people around town, in varying degrees of luxury. There are a number of reasonable motels in town, and the ones listed on the registration form have quoted us commercial rates. The first two listed are not too far from the University, while the Wandlyn is fairly close to one of the shopping centres. We will be doing our best to meet people at the airport, and to ferry everyone around from motels to meetings during the weekend.

We hope that as many people will attend the AGM as can possibly make it, and look forward to meeting you all in Fredericton in November.

That a Committee be struck to investigate whether the objects of the Society would be furthered by the establishment of regional or provincial branches of Society members and of other forms of organizational affiliation; and to report with recommendations to the Board, the report to be published in the Spring Newsletter, 1980.
