Received the first number of the new International Journal of Music Education the other day. It is a finely produced magazine chock-full of interesting content. This Australian-produced journal can be obtained by writing them at the Department of Music, The University of Western Australia, Nedlands, Western Australia 6009 for details.

From Morag Cuthbertson: I unearthed this marvellous little magazine while browsing in a tiny second-hand bookshop in Britain. It contains numerous articles on folk dance that may be of interest to your readers. Reference: The Music Student, 1919, 11(12) - Special summer issue on folk dance with articles by Sharp, Williams, Hobbs and many more.

From Dorothy Farquharson: I have just released my book O, For a Thousand Tongues to Sing which is a history of singing schools in Early Canada. It traces the role of the singing school in the formation of music education in Canada from 1790 through to 1950. Copies are available for $13.50 by writing me at RR 2, Waterdown, Ontario L0R 2H0.

A reminder: Music for a Small Planet is the theme for the conference of the International Society for Music Education to be held in Eugene, Oregon July 8-14, 1984. Further information is available by writing Morette Rider, School of Music, University of Oregon, Eugene OR 97403 USA.

The 1984 annual meeting of the our national Kodaly association will be held in Banff in the fall of 1984. Details will follow - it will be a blockbuster.
