

We have only started work on the section of the catalogue. There are MANY MANY more recordings that should be listed here. We have begun our preliminary research into tracking these down, but have a long way to go. Our decision to include these few titles was more as a statement of intent than an effort to provide a representative catalogue. We'd appreciate any help you might be able to give us in locating further titles.

"Folksongs of Saskatchewan" (listed under Traditional Songs: Western Canada) has a good sampler of material from multicultural communities. "Sun Over Darkness Prevail" (listed under New Songs) is of particular relevance to the Icelandic community as it deals with poems by Stephan Stephansson, a revered figure in that community. There are smatterings of relevant material in some of the field recordings as well.
