

The Condom Song

Words by Hilda L. Thomas (©1994)    Tune adapted from "When You Wore A Tulip"

VERSE: I used to wear an I U D, I used to take the pill, I smeared my - self with ev - ery kind of con - tra - cep - tive gel. But times have changed since then, old pal, So lis - ten up to me: It's your turn now for re - pro - duc - tive re - spon - si - bil - i - ty, so-o-o

CHORUS: You'll wear a con-dom a big rub-ber con - dom, And I'll wear a great big smile, 'Cause it ain't gon - na hurt ya To don that gut-ta per-cha Now that safe sex is in style, So take it out of your wal - let, What - ev - er you call it, And stretch it for a mile, And put on your con-dom, your big rub - ber con - dom, And I'll put on my sex - i - est smile.

Chorus 2:

You wear a condom, a big rubber condom,
And I'll wear a negligée.
'Cause no one can doubt it, if you're careless about it,
It's the woman who will pay.
So if you're getting excited, you don't have to fight it,
Just do it the Boy Scout way,
And put on your condom, your big rubber condom,
And I'll put on my negligée.

*The editors of the Canadian Folk Music Bulletin do not encourage readers to carry condoms in their wallets, especially if said wallets are carried in back pockets. Phone your local Planned Parenthood office for information about proper care and use of condoms, whose use we do encourage.